Abstract

The present invention provides an electronic system and method for automatically matching a prospective borrower seeking consolidation of student loans to one or more programs of prospective Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) loan providers offering loan programs that match the borrower's loan circumstances.

LIT/862123.2